I've been here for five days for a trade exhibition – the “Computer Expo”. My company has a large stand and we've been pretty busy. I've made some useful contacts, and I've given away about 200 business cards. The trade fair is at a large exhibition center outside the city, and I'm staying in a hotel downtown, so I've spent a lot of time travelling.

I only go to one or two trade fairs a year. They're hard work, but I enjoy meeting people, and we go out for a drink in the evening afterwards. Yeah, it's been fun.
