I'm a chef, and I'm also the owner of the restaurant. The restaurant opens for lunch from 12 to 3, and in the evenings from 8 to 12. I reckon on average I work from 10 to 3 and 7 to 1 or 1:30am. We're open six days a week, Tuesday to Sunday. Monday we're closed. When you work for yourself, you don't have set working hours. When I'm not in the kitchen, there's always paperwork to do. I do take good vacations, six weeks last year. I work hard, and I need the breaks. I don't have lunch, but the staff eats together when we close up just after midnight. I wear a uniform in the kitchen - the whole deal - chef's hat and everything!
